“ As programme manager for three major system implementation projects at Auckland City, Dennise Fox brought a wealth of experience, professionalism and a calm, determined approach that helped assure us of success on all of these projects. These successes lifted the bar for Auckland City in our approach to project management. Dennise develops very loyal project teams, which she inspires to work at high levels, and as such has achieved great results for Auckland City. All those people involved have grown enormously as a result of their involvement in the projects. ”

Destin Consulting played an integral role in this important multi-million dollar project bringing with them skills in large system implementation, process design, change management and user training.
